Abstract

H2020 dedicates several instruments to foster innovation and encourage enterprises (especially SMEs) to participate in H2020 projects. In addition to Research and Innovation actions, some specific instruments are available: SME instrument, Fast Track to Innovation, Pre-commercial Procurement, Procurement for Innovative solutions and Eurostars which may be used by Research Infrastructures for the benefit of their partnerships and their technology transfers. All these tools may help prepare the ground for long term partnerships between industrials, scientists and engineers in order to develop new technological solutions for synchrotron applications.
